THEN and NOW

One hundred and sixty-two years ago today the first theatre in the United States was opened in the colony of Virginia at old Williamsburg. The originator was an English actor, William Hallom, Sr., who brought his own company from overseas and presented "The Merchant of Venice" as the initial performance. The idea spread rapidly, and soon New York, Philadelphia and the other leading communities of colonial America each had their theatres. At the close of the century, theatres were open in the capitals of nearly all the thirteen original states. While the Virginian play house was the first in the United States, actors had played in the colonies before this date. The first is said to have been the English strolling player, Anthony Aston, who was known as Mat Medley. The actor and his art of that day was generally despised by the puritanical colonists. The Massachusetts legislature passed a law shortly after amateurs had given "The Orphans" at the coffee house in Boston in 1749, which forbade such performances, attaching a penalty for actors and spectators alike of five pounds sterling each. The opposition in Philadelphia was so great that Hallam was compelled to build his theatre in 1759 outside of the city proper, in a district then in dispute and known as Southwark, or "Society Hill." Even then vigorous efforts were made to close the theatre. A petition was addressed to Judge William Allen, who refused to act, declaring that he had obtained stronger moral lessons from attending the theatre than from any sermon he had heard in church.

Today the theatrical profession is a huge industry in which more than $100,000,000 is invested. There are in the United States over 3,000 theatres, not counting the 20,000 or more moving picture theatres, or circuses, and halls for general entertainment. It has been estimated that during a good theatrical year there are more than 25,000 actors and actresses declaiming, thrilling and dancing before the American people. One of the modern features of the profession is the travelling company, of which there are nearly 1,000. The estimated value of the 3,000 theatres is nearly $40,000,000 while it requires $20,000,000 annually to pay the players' salaries. About $60,000,000 is distributed among the thousands of theatre employees for transportation, advertising and to defray the cost of producing the plays. Today as a class actors and actresses are no longer generally considered pariahs of society. The most exclusive society circles have been opened to admit them, and there are instances where men and women of noble birth have given their social stations for a career on the stage. Even clergymen have deserted their pulpits for the boards, while actors have abandoned the spot-light to take up careers in the church. Stars of the theatrical realm, as well as the lesser lights of the chorus, have sung and danced their way into the ranks of royalty and the nobility, not to mention the multi-millionaire set. Kings have granted them patents of nobility and learned societies and institutions have decorated them with medals and scholastic degrees.

CHUM BOB'S
SPORTING TALK

New York, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The big swimming tournament that takes place today at Chicago, will be of international interest, not only because the national championship is to be decided, but because of the prominence of the athletes entered for some of the events. Americans will watch the performance of Albert E. Downes of the New York Athletic Club against F. Sponberg, of Sweden. Sponberg was a scorer in the Olympic games of 1912 in Stockholm. Each of the men have scored a victory over the other previously, so the result of their clash in the Chicago meet will be of particular interest.

These wonderfully clever runners, the Gordon brothers, go to Poughkeepsie tomorrow to be on the ground for the middle distance events on Monday next. The Labor Day meet will be the biggest that Poughkeepsie has ever held and will be of national interest because many of the athletes who will appear at Baltimore a few days later, will be seen there. Willie Gordon expects to do some record running, as the Poughkeepsie track is particularly fast.

Eddie Leonard, the actor, and Cy Seymour, of New York, Boston, and other points on the National League circuit, are working out these days with the Yankees. Leonard is getting himself in trim for his winter's work.

California promoters are trying to arrange a match between Mike Gibbons and George Chip. A contest between these two men would go a long way towards eddying the world's mid-dleweight championship. Gibbons is one of the greatest boxers of modern times, while Chip has won a place among the leading men in his class. Chip, of course, was knocked out by Al McCoy of Brooklyn, but McCoy's victory was a fluke, and Chip would probably be able to beat him if the two men were to meet again.

After the ball season is over, it will be Florida for Roger Peckinpaugh and Roy Hartzell of the Yanks. The two players have rented a bungalow down there and intend to spend the winter in the southern clime hunting and fishing.

Persons interested in extensive motor touring, undoubtedly will be interested to know that a new touring service bureau has been installed at both the New York and Chicago offices of the Automobile Blue Book Publishing Company, for the free and exclusive use of owners of the 1914 Blue Book. Any owner of a current issue of the book is entitled to the free use of the bureau for any kind of advice on any contemplated tour.

Harry Smith of the Bronx Church House is going out again for the A. A. U. 10-mile championship. He won the title in 1912, but last year had to run second to Hannes Koehlmair and did not find it easy to win the place from Villir Kyronen, another Finn.

In Schuer, Schupp and Royce, McGraw has three brilliant young pitchers, and if the race was not so tight, they might all get a chance to show their ability; but the Little Napoleon has always claimed that no pennant was ever won with untried players.

Peace plans are also being discussed in the world of baseball. Several writers are consolidating leagues so glibly as H. G. Wells divides up, on paper, the territory of European nations. It should not be forgotten, however, that a consolidation simply opens up the way for still another "third major league." The best thing the Feds can do is to continue for all time to be Feds and to resist as the greatest of dangers any attempt to include them in organized baseball.

Swellings of the flesh caused by inflammation, cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuralgia or rheumatism can be relieved by applying BAL-LARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.
